Construction starts in summer of '71

Bulldozers, drills, and cranes became the tools of education during the summer of '71 as renovation started on Pompano Beach Senior High. Construction began with . . .

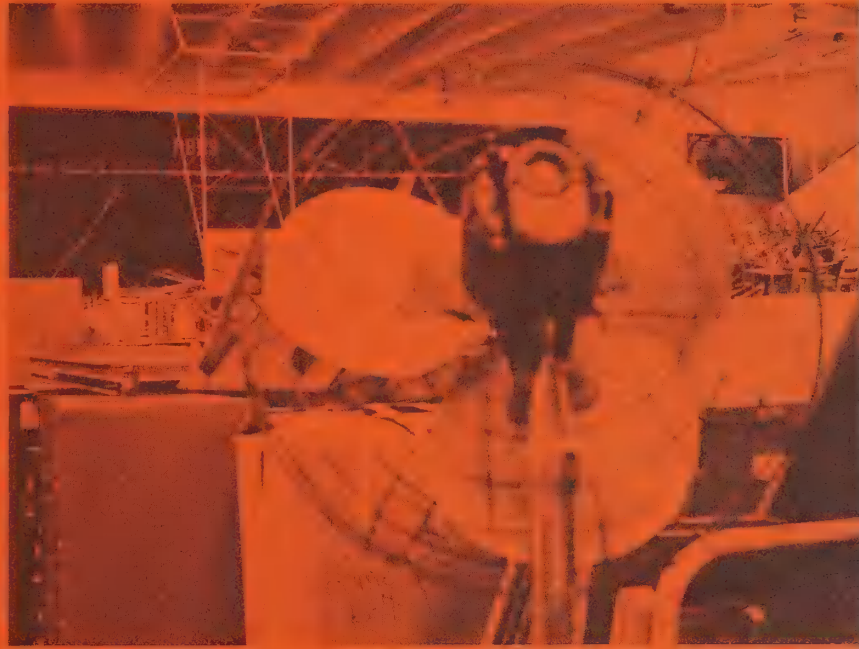

..... a new library-social studies complex. Long overdue air-conditioning of the entire school was also started.

School equipment is cause of gym pollution

When rooms were cleaned for the installation of air-conditioning ducts in already existing buildings, desks, once in neat rows

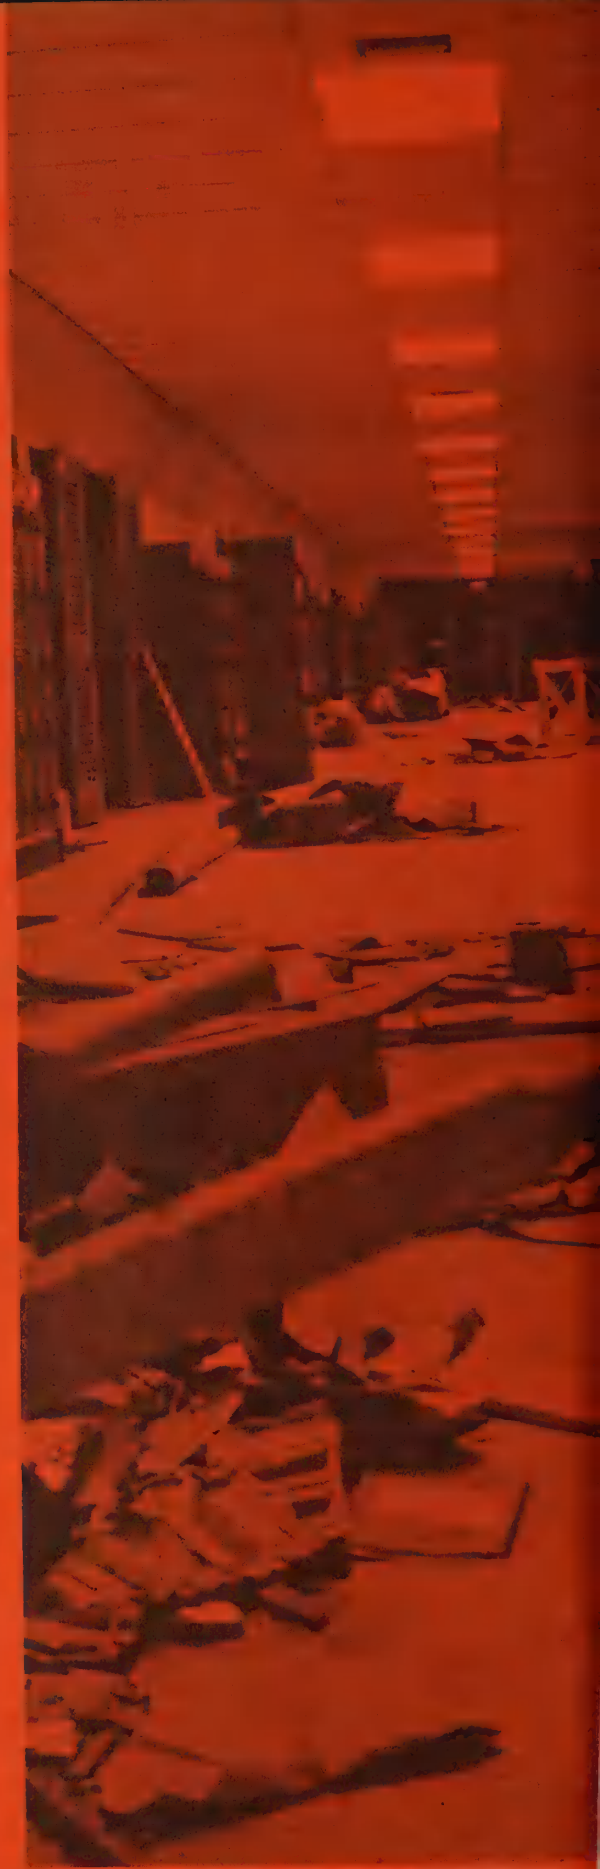

..... were piled haphazardly in the gym with the other school equipment. Textbooks and file cabinets filled the back of the gym, while boxes of books and equipment formed another cluttered mound on the stage.

PBHS in shambles for opening of school

Meanwhile, the construction workers labored to complete the renovation and new building before the opening of school on August 30. Such an accomplishment was not possible

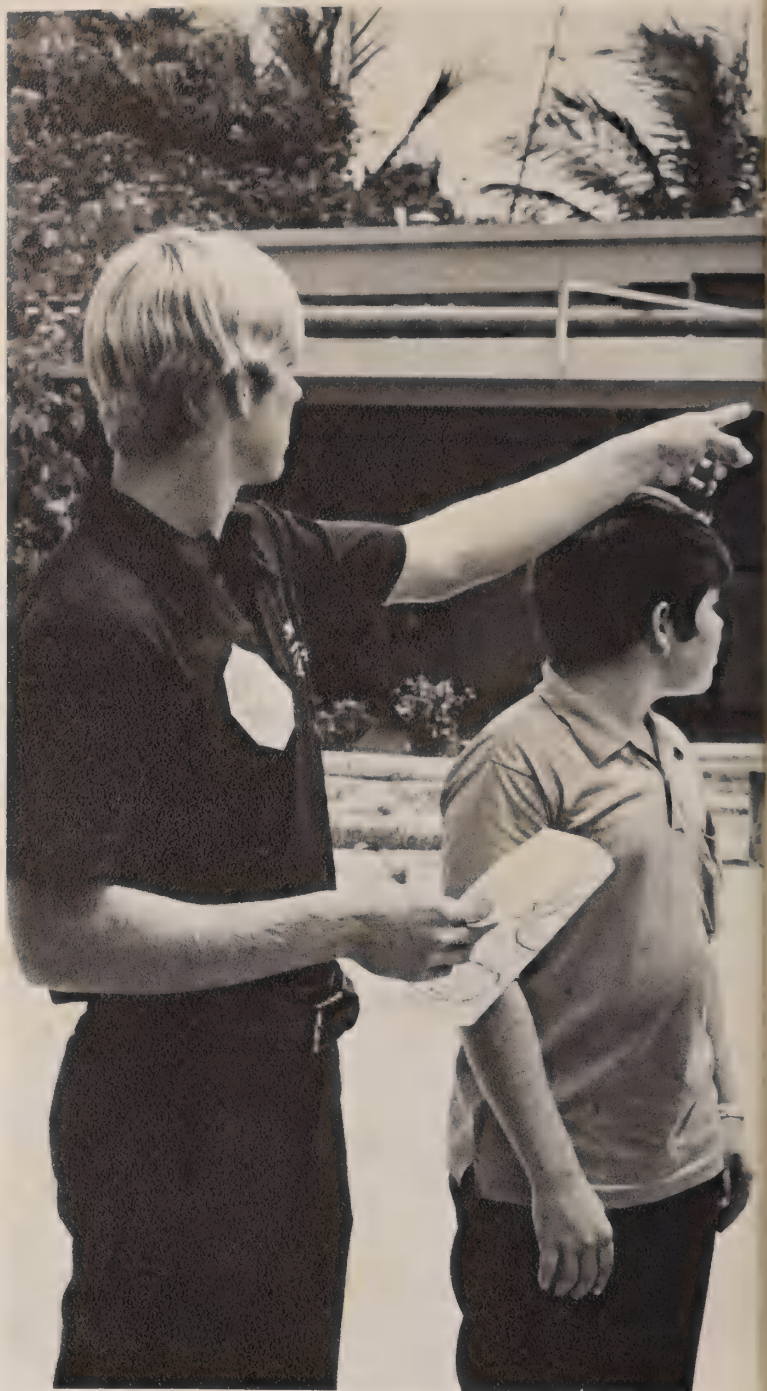

..... and when school started, the temporary classrooms were dusty, and hot.

Noise, confusion, and heat reign supreme

The students found it difficult to get to class on time because they had to take detours and avoid construction. Those students in unair-conditioned rooms tried to learn above the roar of fans, but sometimes that was ..... impossible. The air-conditioned cafeteria held six classes, plus a library of sorts, and everyone shared in the noise, chaos, and mass confusion.

Students have struggle to beat the heat

Sometimes the decibel level became so high that classes fled outdoors. Between the heat and the noise, P.B.S.H. soon ranked . . .

..... as an outdoor school. Fortunately, there were few rainy days during the fall session.

Activities slow down during first semester

School activities were also limited, and some clubs found the situation impossible to cope with. Pep rallies, assemblies, and plays

..... were virtually unheard of during the first semester, except when weather permitted having them on the football field.

The beach remains a common meeting place

No matter what the situation, though, Pompano students found plenty of activities to fill their spare time. The beach, as usual, was

..... a favorite place to do homework, talk with friends, or lie in the sun.

Many activities fill weekend afternoons

Spending an afternoon on a friend's boat, playing a makeshift game of football at Kester Park, or just horsing around were weekend activities that everyone enjoyed.

Our school motto: "Not at the summit, but ascending," was exemplified in the 1971-72 school year.

Students learn about the state government

Pompano had four representatives at Girl's State and ten representatives at Boy's State the summer of '71. Students ran for state offices, representing either the Nationalist or Federalist party. Although the sessions were sometimes long, all the Girl and Boy Staters agreed they had a good time and returned with a fuller knowledge of government.

Interesting assemblies add to a school day

Assemblies were restricted the first semester, mainly because of split sessions and the condition of the gym. The second semester assemblies were much improved. The entire school was together and separate assemblies were no longer necessary. For the first time in two years, Pompano became a united school, and spirit soared to a new level.

NHS gets the "Erge" for a dance

The National Honor Society, responding to the students demands, held the first dance of the year. A popular local band, "The Erge", played and everyone had an enjoyable evening. The dance was especially for the benefit of new NHS members, but was open to all of the Pompano High students.

Color Day begins

Homecoming 1971

Homecoming week was started off with the traditional blue and gold day, where students all dressed in Pompano's school colors. Mr. and Miss Blue and Gold were chosen from many contestants. Because of the construction, the halls could not be decorated, but the night before the game, Pompano-spirited students decorated the football stands. Tuesday was booster button day, along with silent hour and the all-school pep assembly.

Bonfire and Tornado Watch build spirit

The traditional Pompano bonfire was the scene of much excitement on Wednesday night, as students gathered around the blaze to cheer on Pompano. The snake dance then took everyone to the gym, where the Tornado Watch, and all-city assembly, began. The gym nearly burst with the crowd and there was standing room only.

Homecoming ends with a new queen crowned

Thursday was the day of the parade and game. This year the parade was better than ever, and many floats were spectacular, to say the least. The homecoming game was also exciting, with lots of action. But the climax of the day was the half-time activities, when Lucy Goodrum was crowned homecoming queen by Clara Sleeth, the 1970 queen.

Lori Futch wins state competition

Lori Futch displays the style and perfection that won for her, first place in Florida State and Southeastern Conference High School competition. Lori is a junior at Pompano High School.

Pride Week—each day more unifying.

This year at PBSHS, Pride Week became a unified program with activities planned for each day. Monday was Grievance Day; Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday gave students a chance to join whatever service or interest club they had not joined before, and Friday was Clean-Up Day. Friday was also the day when the new "M" building was dedicated, and the clubs performed their various projects.

Student-written skits give realistic touch.

From an old time melodrama to talented dancers to T.V. show take-offs to skits with just a bit of satire about Pompano Beach High, the Potpourri of Comedy provided two nights of entertainment for all. The Quill and Scroll production, the first one of the year, was on February 7 and 8 in the small auditorium. Some of skits were written by the Quill and Scroll members themselves, which gave a more realistic touch to the skit about school happenings at Pompano High.

Drugs, ironic twist in all-school play.

The Thespian all-school play, "The People Next Door," was presented on March 16 and 17 in the small auditorium. The play, which was also made into a successful T.V. version, centers around a teenage girl involved in drugs. The blame is placed on Artie, her brother, although the real offender is the boy next door, a straight, clean-cut, American guy who is actually a pusher. Although there are many funny moments, the play ended on a tragic note with the young girl in an institution, her mind gone forever, while the boy next door is free.

Jobs add to busy student life

Over-abundance is not a commonly used word when referring to the number of jobs available to students. Nevertheless, work is an integral part of many students school life, and must be worked in between classes, sports, clubs, and social events. The split sessions helped many students to work longer hours.

Girls snare guys to foot-stampin' music.

A hand-clappin' time was had to the foot-stampin' music of the "Erge" at the annual Sadie Hawkins dance on February 19. The Monogram-sponsored dance also gave prizes to the best dancers and the best costumed couple. A hitchin' post was provided for those who decided marriage was a good idea, and later a divorce booth was there for couple's who decided that marriage was not such a good idea.

LEFT: Jill Palmer captures her man, Randy Salisbury, and they both capture the prize for the best dressed at the Sadie Hawkins Dance. BELOW: Couples did their foot-stompin' to the music of the "Erge."

Faculty turns the table on DJ's.

The faculty of PBSHS turned the tables on the WQAM DJ's to beat them at basketball 67-34. The proceeds of the game, played on February 22, went to the class of '72 for their large senior prom expenses.

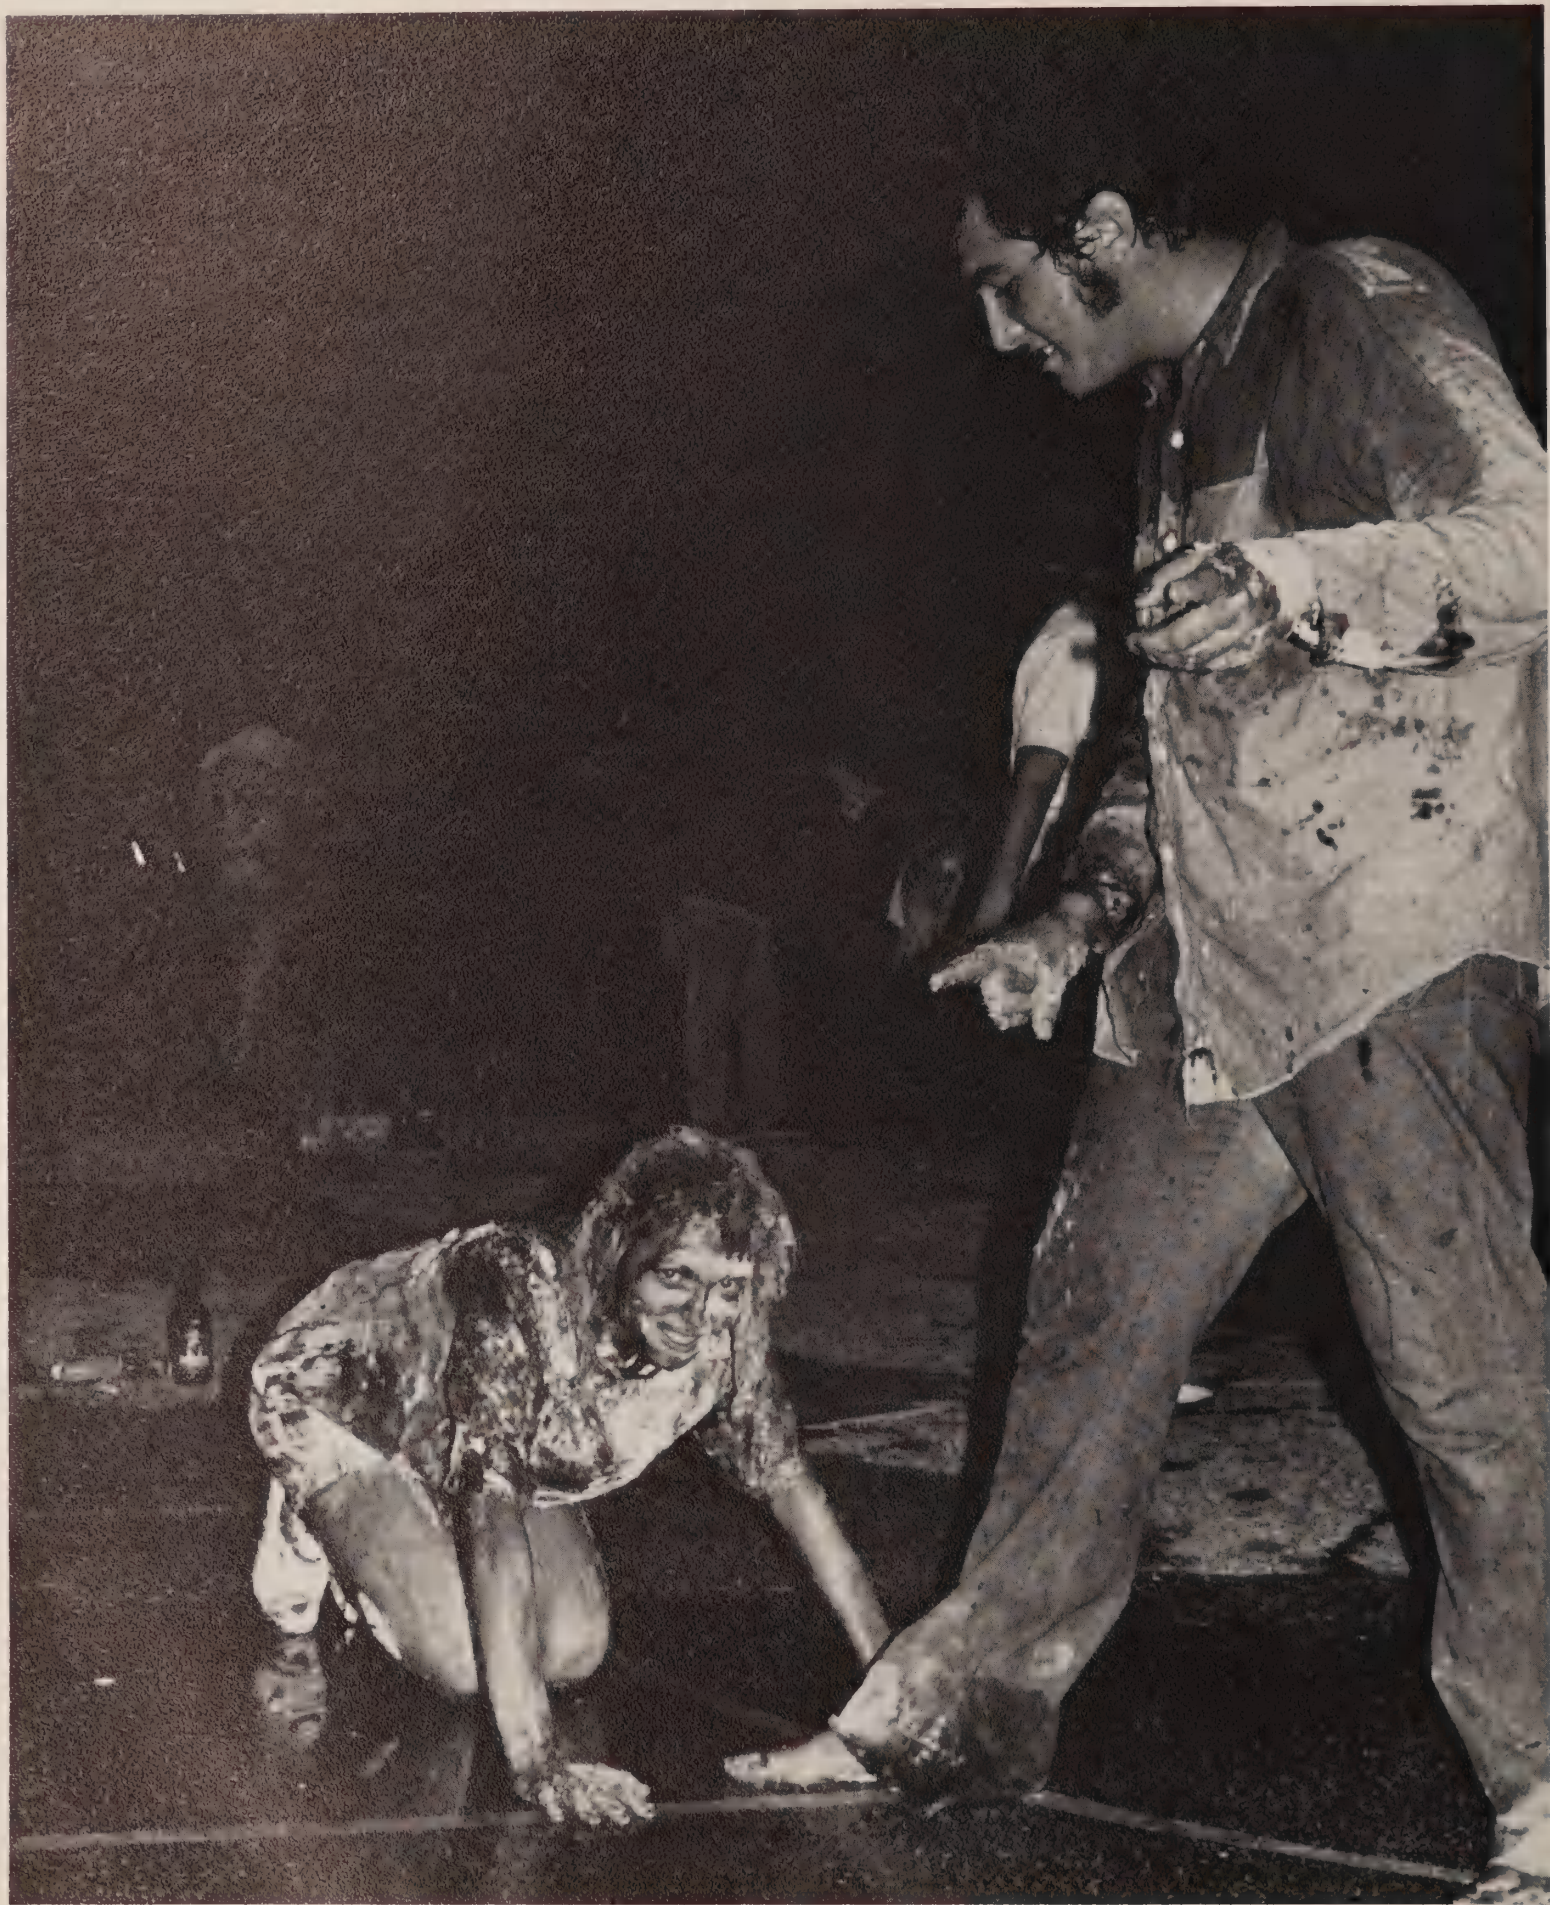

Faculty shows their wit and talent by outfoxing the WQAM D.J.'s at basketball.

Graduation can not ever be forgotten.

Graduation is one memory of high school that can not be forgotten. It is the end of twelve sit-and-study years, and the beginning of a whole new way of life. For the class of '72, nearly numbering 600, the graduation ceremonies were held in the gym. And though the gym was the only unair-conditioned part of the school, the seniors didn't seem to mind. The heat just became a part of that unforgettable evening of pomp and circumstance.

OUTCRY prints

material of interest

Pompano's literary magazine, the OUTCRY, is a collection of short stories, poetry, essays, and art work submitted by students. A panel of teachers judge all work and choose material that is interesting to all. Prizes are awarded for the best art work and original writings in each of the four categories.

Quill and Scroll

stages first production

The Quill and Scroll, Pompano's club for all outstanding journalists, gave the first stage production, Potpourri of Comedy, of the 1971-1972 year. The play was a satire on school life and television shows, and most of the skits were written by Quill and Scroll members themselves. Although Quill and Scroll has usually been considered a smaller club, this year the club almost doubled in size with the addition of 13 new members.

Oracle Class edits 10 issues

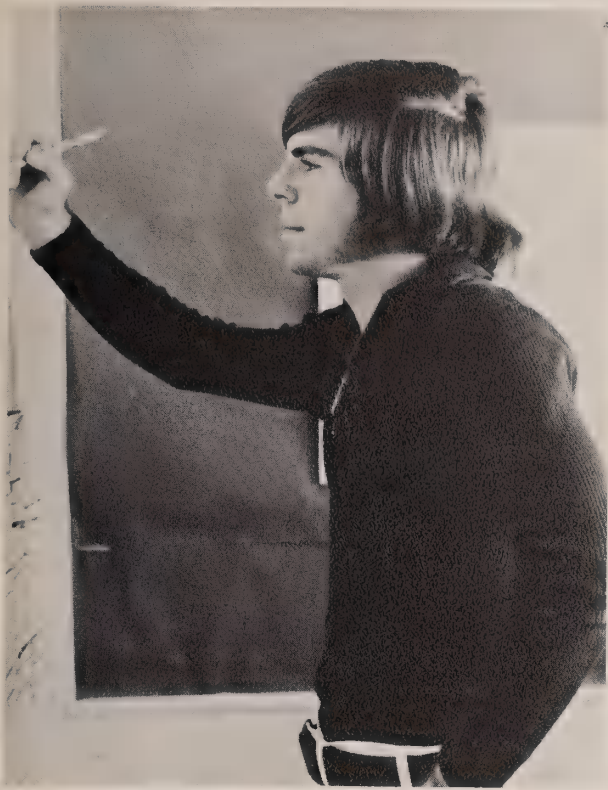

Journalism is a credit class offered for students with a "B" average or better in English. During the year the journalism staff publishes a newspaper called, the Oracle. This year's staff published ten issues of the award-winning Oracle.

The Oracle staff: Co-editors, Bob Kain and Jeanne Maehlmann; Bus. Mgr., Randy Henning; Ad Mgr., Patti Johnson; Spts. Ed., Jeff Maddox; Circ. Mgr., Connie Houck; L. Morrison, T. Bailey, S. Orr, D. Wronski, C. Penuel, L. Willoughby, B. Brooks, S. Carroll, D. Hall, D. Valdini, B. Armstrong, R. Wiggins, M. Parmon, R. Wilson, D. Ford.

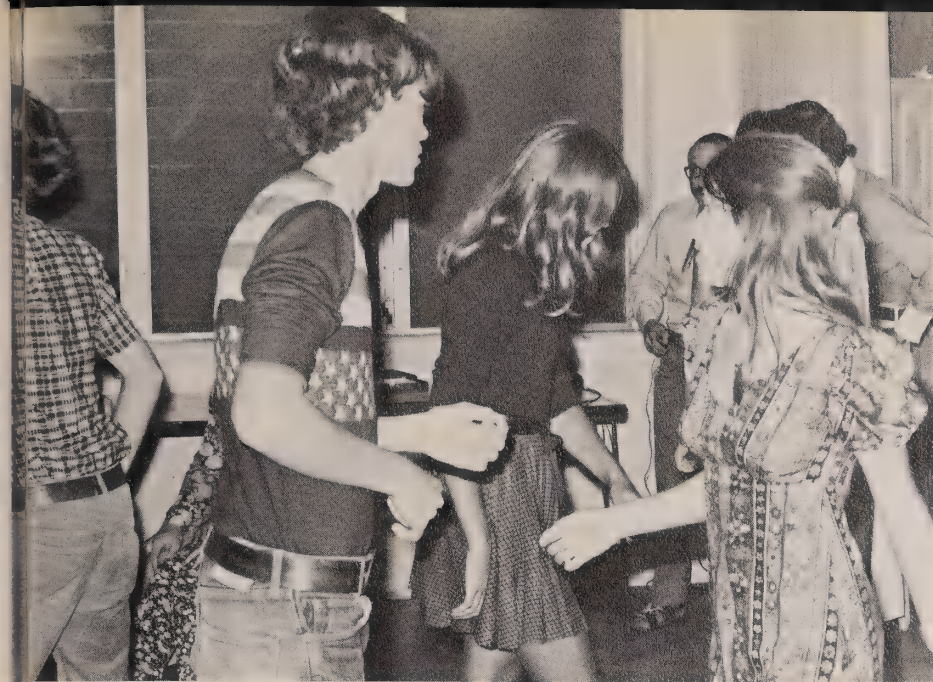

Odd hours signify creative yearbook

From a crowded corner of the cafeteria to the beach at five o'clock in the morning, the Beanpicker staff worked anytime and anyplace in order to get interesting pictures and create a yearbook worthy of past Beanpickers. Enthusiastic first year publication students combined with the experience of last year's staff and sponsor, Miss Wray, to build a castle of school memories for all to live in.

Under the sponsorship of Paul Tavitian, the NHS broke away from its traditional projects and tried some new ideas. A private induction ceremony and reception were held in the auditorium on October 28, and the NHS sponsored its first all-school dance on November 6. On the traditional front, the club held its annual chicken Bar-B-Q dinner to raise money for next year.

Bi-Racial sponsors student-printed paper

There is no doubt that the Bi-Racial Committee has done much to build better student relations, but this year they went a step further. Bi-Racial sponsored "The Zebra", a student-printed paper where anybody was free to air his or her views on most subjects, in or out of school. The Bi-Racial also urged participation in the "Walk For Mankind", which is seeming to become an annual project for P.B.H.S. students.

Student Council officers are John Krix, President; Chris Cowen, Vice-President; Genie Jennaro, Recording Secretary; Kathy Atkins, Corresponding Secretary; Jamey Heuser, Treasurer.

SC responds to needs of PB students

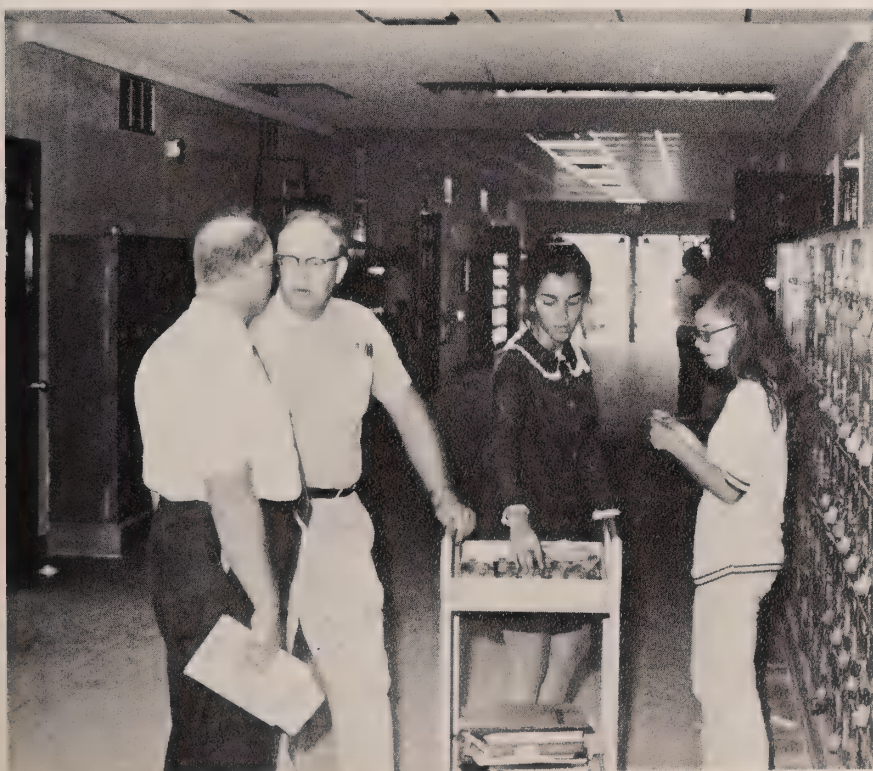

Student Council responded quickly to the needs of a confusing school year. They wrote the traditional handbook with a map of the new school included, and distributed lockers during the early part of the first semester. To raise money and spirit, homecoming, football, and basketball booster buttons were sold. Pride Week was organized by the Student Council with the cooperation of ICC.

Key Club drives for new members

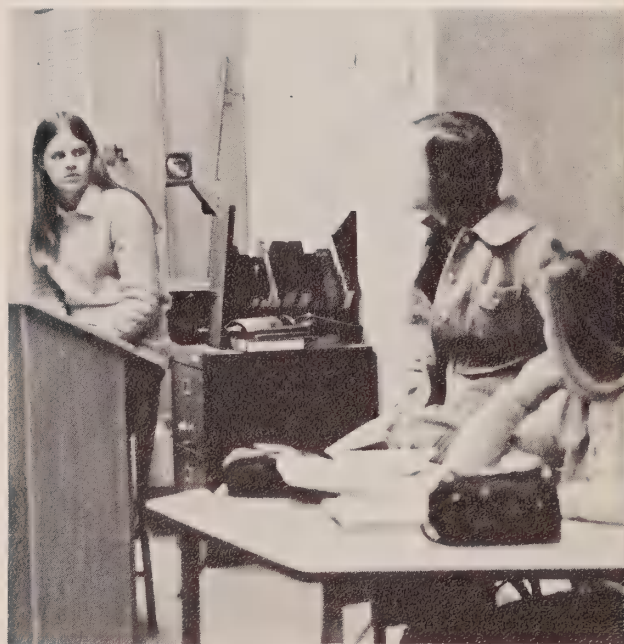

Key Club was in charge of maintaining the parking lot spaces this year. The club also painted the football field goalposts. First semester the club consisted mainly of seniors and second semester they had a drive for underclass members.

Keyettes raise money for senior scholarship

The Keyettes club is a girls' service club for all junior and senior girls. Their service projects included Christmas caroling at Holy Cross Hospital, a clothing drive, and an Easter party for the Fort Lauderdale Oral School. Money for a scholarship was raised by bake sales, car washes, and the annual Keyette Spring Fashion Show.

DCT provides job training

DCT, the Diversified Cooperative Training Program, is designed to train students sixteen and older in a realistic job situation. DCT is an integral part of the high school curriculum, utilizing the business, professional, and industrial establishment of our community as cooperative training agencies. DCT provides an opportunity for students to discover and develop to the fullest their interests, latent aptitudes, and abilities in the world of work. Mr. Fred Fiat is sponsor.

Spanish Club Goes The Mexican Route

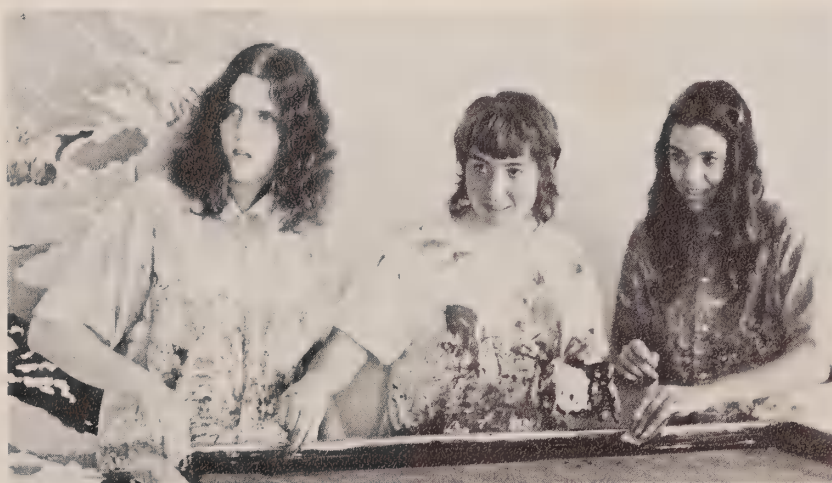

Mexican villas, bullfights, and spicy foods were not just idle dreams of the PBSHS Spanish Club. This year various members journeyed to the Baja Peninsula to study the culture and life of Mexico. The club raised money to aid those who were able to take this educational and interesting trip.

Sales, marketing Keep DCA busy

DCA provides an insight into the world of sales and marketing. Various field trips to the merchandise mart and display evaluation at Burdines along with trips to the district, state, and national conferences were held. Money was raised through the Halloween bake sale, Betty Benson candy sales, and T-shirt sales.

FSA Prepares For Careers

Future Secretaries Association gives all girls interested in secretarial work a chance to learn more about that field of work. In addition to bookkeeping and shorthand, the girls must learn telephone answering techniques, personal development, and even correct make-up application. As a service project, the FSA sponsored a puppet show for the children's ward at Holy Cross Hospital at Christmas time.

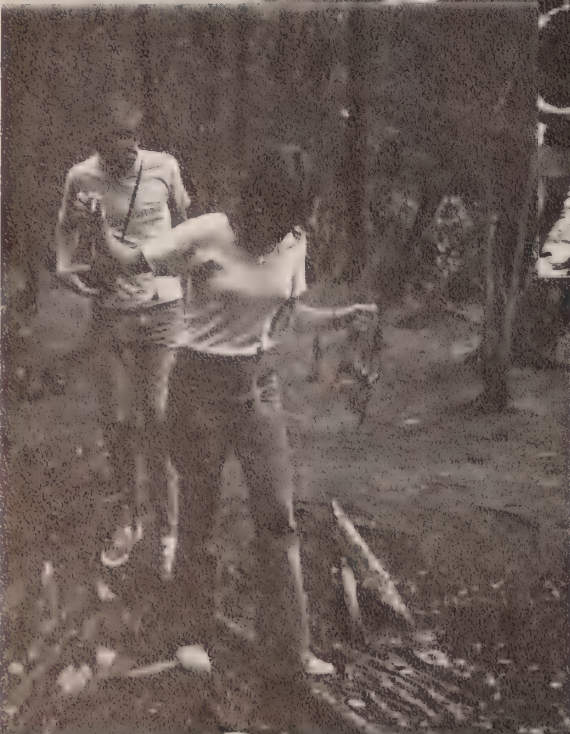

FTA practices

art of teaching

The Future Teachers of America introduces its members to all sides of the teaching profession. It does so by teaching at elementary schools and assisting high school teachers. One project at the end of each school year is honoring our teachers with a Teachers' Tea.

FHA plans a trip to Miami

FHA used their homemaking talents to make blue and gold yarn dolls, which were sold during homecoming. As a club, they attend local and state conventions. FHA went to a convention in Miami in April because, as a club they had earned the most points. To raise money for all their projects, FHA has many bake sales and car washes throughout the year.

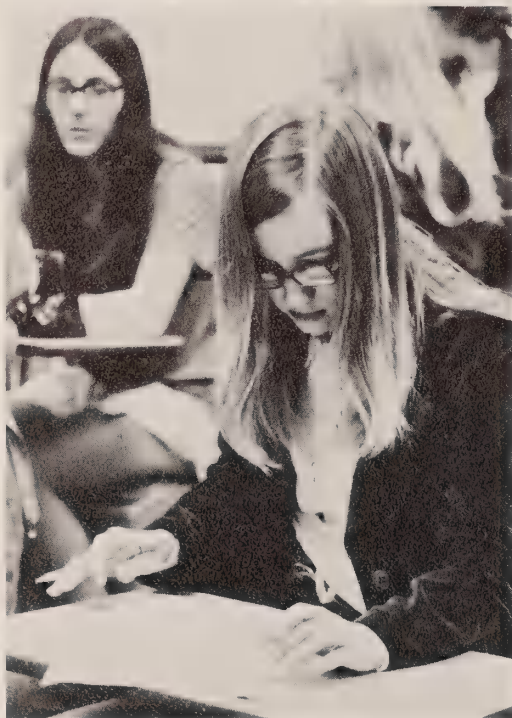

FML helps new day-care center

The Future Medical Leaders gives students interested in medicine a chance to gain a lot of valuable information. Their speakers included a dermatologist, dentist, and general practitioner. The FML became involved in aiding the new Pediatric Day Care Center and sponsored a toy drive for the center.

French Club shows underground talent

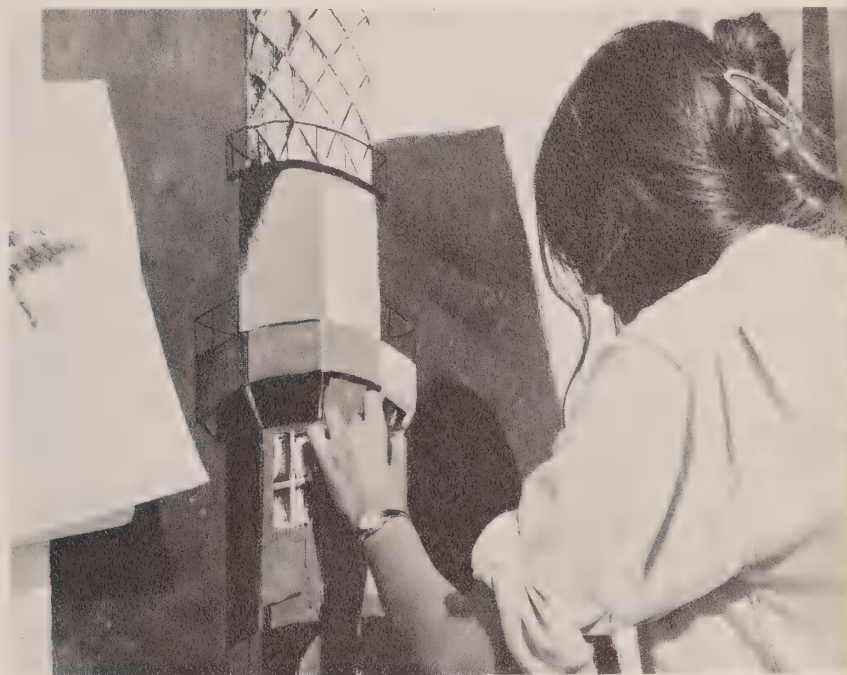

The French Club went "underground" this year with their talent show, presented on October 23 at the Junior High. Entertainment was provided by student folk singers and strolling musicians. Above ground activities included a fondue party and spring banquet. Money was raised by bake sales.

Art Guild takes active interest in school

The members of the Art Guild participated actively in the school program this year. They made pennants for homecoming, and ran "The Spot", where student-made art items such as macrame belts and key chains were sold. Some members also participated in the sidewalk painting contest sponsored by Southern Federal Savings and Loan.

Ecology Important Study of Biology Club

The Biology Club has increased in size in the past few years due to an ever growing interest in ecology. Members traveled to Boca Beach one Saturday for a massive beach clean up. Another trip made was to FAU, for a lecture on marine biology and chemistry.

The F.F.A. provides for all Ag students to participate in activities related to farming and livestock. During the year they had several field trips to livestock auctions and the state fair, and sponsored a horseshow and "Farm Day" at the school. This year the F.F.A. was the winner of first prize for their Homecoming float, a mini covered wagon.

Band still No. 1 after 20 years

Under the direction of Bernard Switzer, who replaced the late Richard H. Elliott, the Golden Tornado Band received superiors at contest for the 20th consecutive year. In addition to marching for football games, providing a pep band for assemblies and basketball games, the band was also honored with doing the pre-game show at the North-South Shrine Game in the Orange Bowl. A trip to Mexico was tentatively planned for the Easter vacation as a goodwill tour. Various members participated in All-County Band and Solo and Ensemble Contest at the district and state level.

Majorettes prepare own twirling exhibitions

The majorettes play a vital part to the shows of the marching band. The Twirling Tornadoes prepared their own shows for all the games, under the experienced leadership of captain Pam Kartub and co-captain Cindy Herceg. This year's shows featured a lot of solo twirlers in addition to the regular corps' routine. New uniforms also enhanced their field maneuvers and provided sure proof that the Golden Tornadoes were there!

L. Heslett, C. Chriss, D. Thwaites, M. Larsen, W. Kartub, L. Mims, P. Kartub, R. Stegura, G. Fox, C. Herceg and J. Herceg were this year's Golden Majorettes.

Orchestra exhibits ability to community

Orchestra members practiced diligently to prepare for the concert season, which included a Christmas concert at Fashion Square, a patriotic concert in February with the chorus, and a spring concert highlighting soloists. The orchestra also played for the Pompano Junior High students, and attended the State Orchestra contest at the University of Florida in Gainesville.

SPORTS

Editors: Don Worden, Leo DeMattia, Tracy Swanson and Jeff Keller

Cheering their teams to victory during the 1971-72 school year was not always an easy task for the dedicated varsity cheerleaders. Yet thanks to the inspiration of Mrs. Spera and the dedication of the girls themselves, the job was made a little easier. Seniors Sharon Brown, Chris Callaway, Jeanne Maehman, Ana Roig, Sharon McCoy and Queen McClendon enjoyed their final year as Tornado cheerleaders. However, Liz Barnes, Sheryl Kuntz, Stephanie Bunn, and Jeanette Lewis return to provide the experience for next year's squad.

Junior Varsity cheerleaders followed in the footsteps of the varsity peers by displaying a vast reservoir of school spirit in cheering their team on to victory. Behind the leadership of captain, Becky Becton, Mary Moffit, Barbara Scholar, Sue Ealey, Althea McLendon, Becky Owen, Namoi Kearse, and Sue Rollins combined to instill spirit in our underclassmen.

Nancy Pautz, Theresa Colosimo, Lora Elston, Vicky Harris, Debbie Petracca, and Elaine McFadden were the lucky girls chosen to lead the class of 1975 in all their athletic events this year. The girls did an excellent job of instilling pride into the newcomers of PBHS.

Injuries Confront

Varsity Team

The field is a grass plain, flat and spare, the focal point of a monumental stadium of concrete and steel. Out fitted in the distinctive armor of the gladiator, the Tornadoes entered the new season prepared for battle. However, the guys donned in blue and gold were not meant to win the war of 1971. The well trained and disciplined athletes rounded out their season with a 2-8 record in games and 10-0 in spirit.

Pain is part of the game and a player learns to live with it and play with it, but serious injury is something else. It is the dread and constant menace of every coach, for the loss of several key players could mean the end of his season. This was the story of Coach Caldwell's 1971 Tornadoes. Pompano fans realized the hardships and misfortunes their team went through. Defeat is grey but temporary, vulnerable to the efforts of the team.

Tough Year For J.V.'s

The 1971 J.V. football season was a year of losing and learning as the Baby Tornados came off the field with a 2-6 record. The valuable experience the players picked up under the direction of first year coach McCahill will contribute to the spirit and success of next years' Varsity Tornado squad.

Freshman learn fundamental skills

Behind the leadership of first year coach Wells, the freshman team demonstrated a great deal of poise and maturity on the grid-iron this past season, posting a 1-3-2-record. Many of these athletes are destined to start for the varsity before their playing days are over.

PB harriers gain strength, and experience

Cross Country ran through another short season this year barely missing the .500 mark. Pompano finished out the year making a respectable showing at the district meet. Several of the harriers will be back next year, giving head coach Billy Miller hopes for a stronger, more experienced team.

Tornadoes Gain needed experience

Great enthusiasm sparks J.V. team

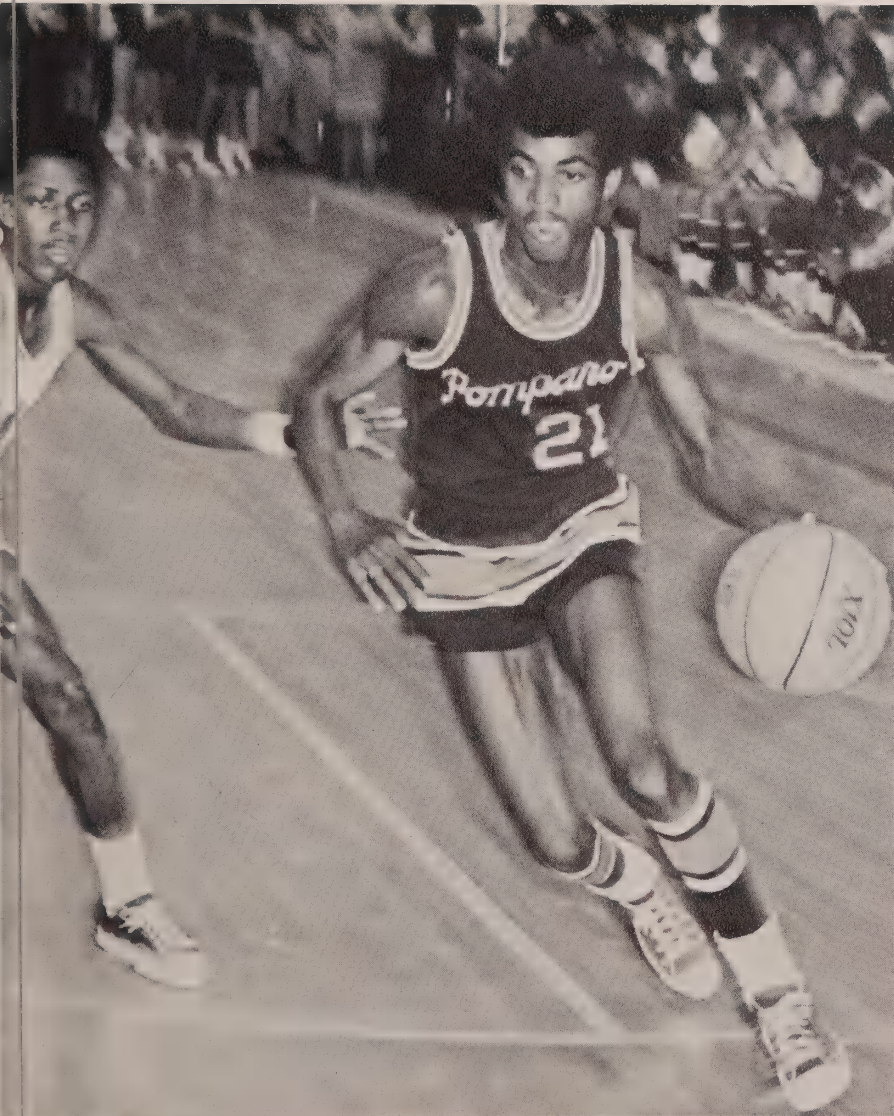

The Junior Varsity basketball team, led by Coach Miller, worked hard this year to improve their skill and over-all team play. The J.V. team consisted of freshmen and sophomores, and showed great desire as they completed a fine season. The J.V.'s possessed good height and great shooting ability, two assets that will be of great help on next year's Varsity Tornado Basketball team.

Freshmen exhibit strength, stamina

The freshmen team, coached by Coach Watson, worked hard to improve their skills and overall team play. They showed strength and determination for their first year of basketball for Pompano Beach Senior High. They showed good shooting and ball-handling ability, which will provide Pompano with many fine basketball teams in the future.

Co-ed Track Team shows Quality

Mr. Gary Brewer made his debut as coach this year, and proved to be a great asset for our 1972 track team. Quality without quantity was the deciding factor to the success of the new co-ed team. With a majority of underclassmen, lack of experience was their only flaw. The team practiced hard under the firm guidance of Coach Wells and Coach Brewer. A very interesting and exciting track season faced Pompano Beach Senior High this year.

Tennis is a game of action and reaction

Tennis can certainly be called a game of reactions. It requires concentration, coordination, and fine timing. Because of its fast action, tennis is becoming one of the most popular games in America. Our boys and girls tennis teams upheld the reputation of the game and provided the spectators with plenty of action.

Wrestling attracts encouraging fans

Under coaches Don Sanders and Curtis Matzner the Wrestling team won district and placed third in the county. Perhaps the encouragement of the cheerleaders and fans added to the success of our team or maybe it was just the fine coaching of Don Sanders who gave us a winning season this year.

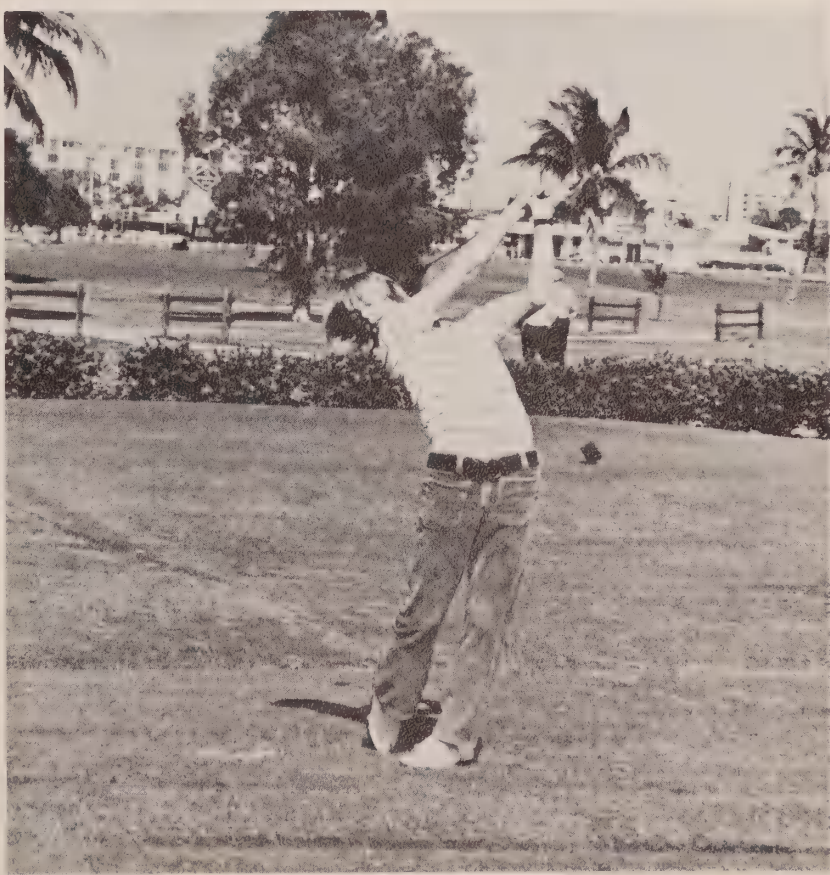

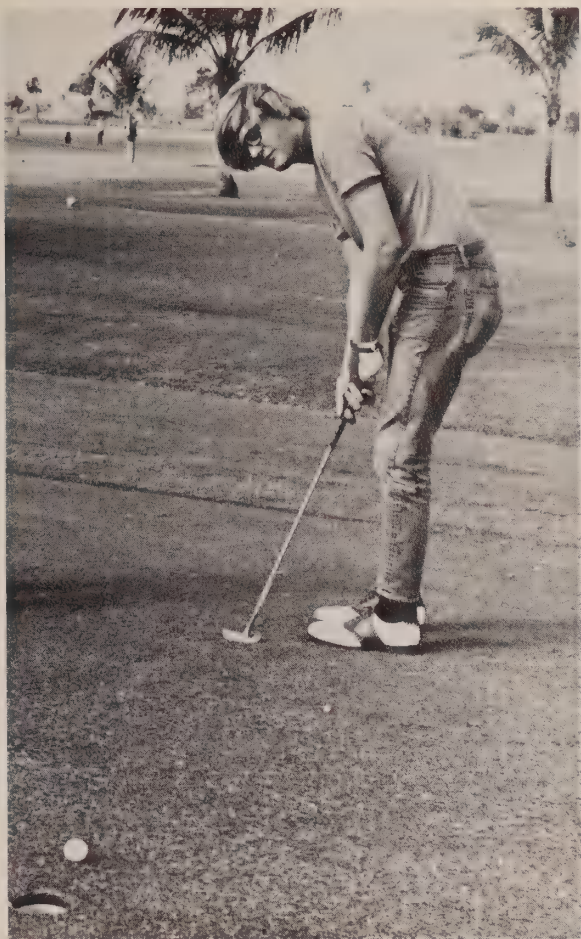

Pompano golfers swing into action

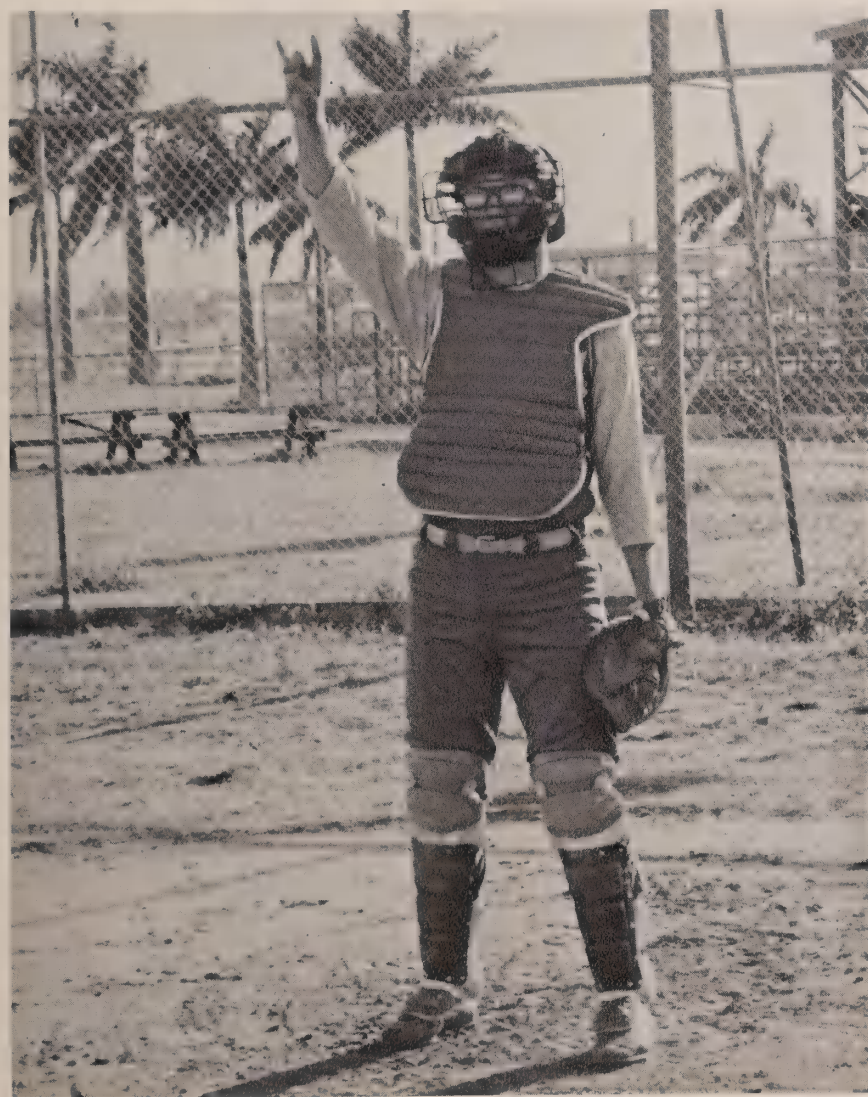

The successful season of the Pompano Beach Senior High golf team was due to the outstanding performances by all individuals. The two most important factors their success, was the team's constant practice and the disciplined coaching techniques used by Coach Hank Moody.

Baseball maintains

No. 1 status

The baseball team had to work hard to maintain their No. 1 status of last year. The job didn't prove to be too hard, though, because there were many returning and experienced players. Because of our team's fine efforts and winning record, baseball is becoming a much more popular sport at Pompano Beach High School.

Office staff keeps records for 2,500

Keeping records and taking care of problems for 2,500 people is no small task, but our office staff did a fine job of keeping Pompano in smooth working order. We were to have many returning members of the staff along with several well qualified new ones.

Guidance Department helps solve problems

The guidance department strives to aid students whenever they have difficulty. The problems range from classes, to jobs, to home life, and the guidance counselors try to solve or help, them all. Seniors find that the guidance department is helpful when it comes time to choose a college and get financial aid.

Library moved to new complex

The library played hide-and-seek the first semester, with the library being stationed in the cafeteria. Librarians worked hard to keep things straight so there would not be a lot of lost material when the library was moved from its temporary location to the new building.

Foreign Language is a valuable asset

A person who takes a foreign language learns more than just how to speak in a foreign tongue. He gains a knowledge of the customs and traditions of that country. Knowing a foreign language is a valuable asset for anyone. The foreign language department at Pompano offers courses in Spanish, French, German, Russian, and Latin.

SENIORS

Editors: Deanna Tackett, Linda North, Lisa Petrone, and Tom Mims.

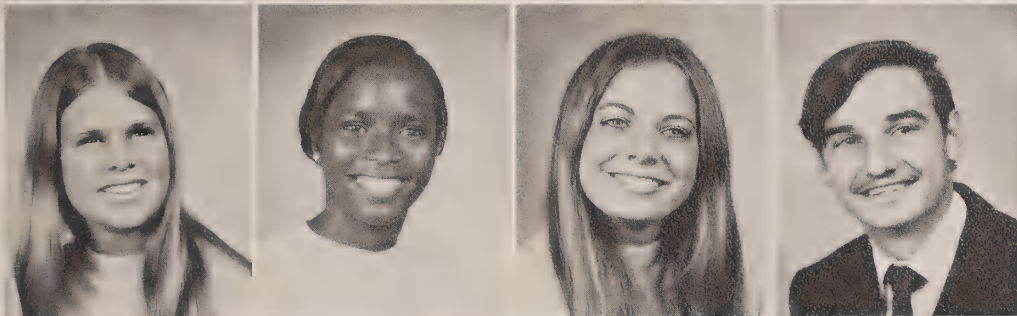

Seniors bring spirit to confusing year

With an attitude of "Let's make the last the best", the class of '72 set out to excel every other class in pride and spirit. As some of the old Pompano traditions could not be continued, the class of '72 started some new ones. Homecoming visors were worn by all the seniors at the homecoming game, and the seniors decorated the stands before the game. During second semester, there was an epidemic of "senioritis", but no one seemed to suffer any ill effects other than a few tears when the Alma Mater was sung for the last time, and the class of '72 knew that it wouldn't be long before they would be "alumni" of PBHS.

UNDERCLASS

Pres. Alan Williams, Sec. Fran Hardy, Treas. Michele Neidich, and V.P. Dave Gerhardt are the junior class officers.

Class of '73 shows school spirit

Problems and pride marked the start of the Year for the class of '73. Not having a gym for the homecoming dance was quite a problem but the juniors showed pride by holding a dance later on in the year. The Class of '73 was very active in school activities and became leaders as well as followers. The magazine drive was a great success and brought in a lot of money. Of, course, selecting class rings was the highlight of the year, as it is with all prospective graduates. The leadership, pride, and responsibility exhibited by the Class of '73 indicate that it will be one of the best senior classes ever.

Spirited sophomores raise money for class

The class of '74 has been at Pompano for two years now, and it is easy to see their enthusiasm and spirit. Raising money was one of the sophomores main objectives, and numerous car washes were held. The class of '74 built a beautiful float for homecoming, and made sure everyone knew sophomores have spirit.

Sophomore officers, Pres., Becky Becton; Sec., Jan Standish; V.P., Dennis Bailey; and Treas., Missy Keller plan more fund-raising activities for the year.

Freshmen support Pompano at games

The freshmen class built spirit by following the examples of the upperclassmen. The class of '74 started raising money by having car washes, and supported P.B.S.H.S. by their enthusiasm at pep rallies and games.

Those Saturday's we spent together
Were pretty funny times.
We always went to the beach,
Your lack of money the reason.
I never minded;
We built some pretty fantastic castles,
With popsicle sticks,

broken shells,
and

Driftwood for a ramp over a seawater moat.
And when castles got tiresome
We walked for miles
Down the sandy beach,
Digging up seashells and
Pushing each other into
The foamy tide.
Gradually,
The walk seemed harder, and we'd
Turn back to our castle.
It was almost always ruined.
Little kids love to crush castles
and
Kick arches and towers to pieces.

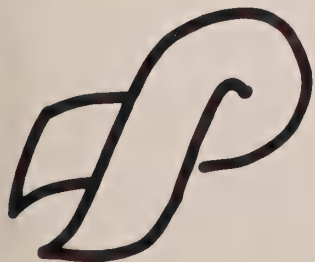

Once, though, we came back and
The castle was still standing.
It made us kind of happy to see
Our silent, sandy castle saluting
The setting sun good-bye.
But castles never last forever,
So you carefully smashed
Our artwork back into the ground.
I protested your destructiveness.
"That's all right," you whispered softly,
"There are lots of other castles
We can build."

WHY DO WE CALL THE YEARBOOK "THE BEANPICKER"

A long time ago, Pompano Beach was a small farming area just outside of Fort Lauderdale, Florida. The farmers of Pompano Beach grew mostly beans; in fact, Pompano Beach was and still is the largest winter vegetable market in the world. Many of the new developments around Pompano were once bean fields in which toiled the beanpickers. During the season, the fields would be dotted with the colorfully-dressed pickers. It is from these people that the "Beanpicker" takes its name. The name "Beanpicker", therefore, indicates the pride we have in our productive land and honors those who help to reap the harvest.

Pompano fans salute the kick-off of a football game.

Lisa Conley finds that being the cheerleaders mascot is a delightful task.

Computer schedules “mistakes” for P. B.

And so Pompano ended the '72 year with ■ castle complete. The new “M” building, with its large, open rooms was complete. The air-conditioning in all buildings was finished. Communication, something usually lacking, was greatly improved with the addition of a new intercom and phone system

... Lunches were served in the cafeteria, although some students found it in better taste to eat off campus. Schedules were changed, and changed, and changed again, as the guidance department struggled to correct computer mistakes. Seniors were all placed in the gym, so homeroom became a replay of two years ago, when the class of '72 first met in the gym.

Our castles can never be completed

In spite of all the new additions, school life at Pompano continued much as it has for years gone by. The studying, tests, parties, games, and the laughter and tears that must be included in that list went on regardless of new buildings or schedules

... because our lives are never finished. Whether it be more school, college, or career, something must be continued. There will always be castles to build.

The 1971-72 schoolyear turned out to be quite an experience at Pompano Senior High. First semester, there was utter chaos at times as the students tried to learn among construction clatter and double-session strain. Most students disliked the second semester. Study halls and lunch hours cut down on the free time which underclassmen had used for relaxation and upperclassmen had used for gainful employment.

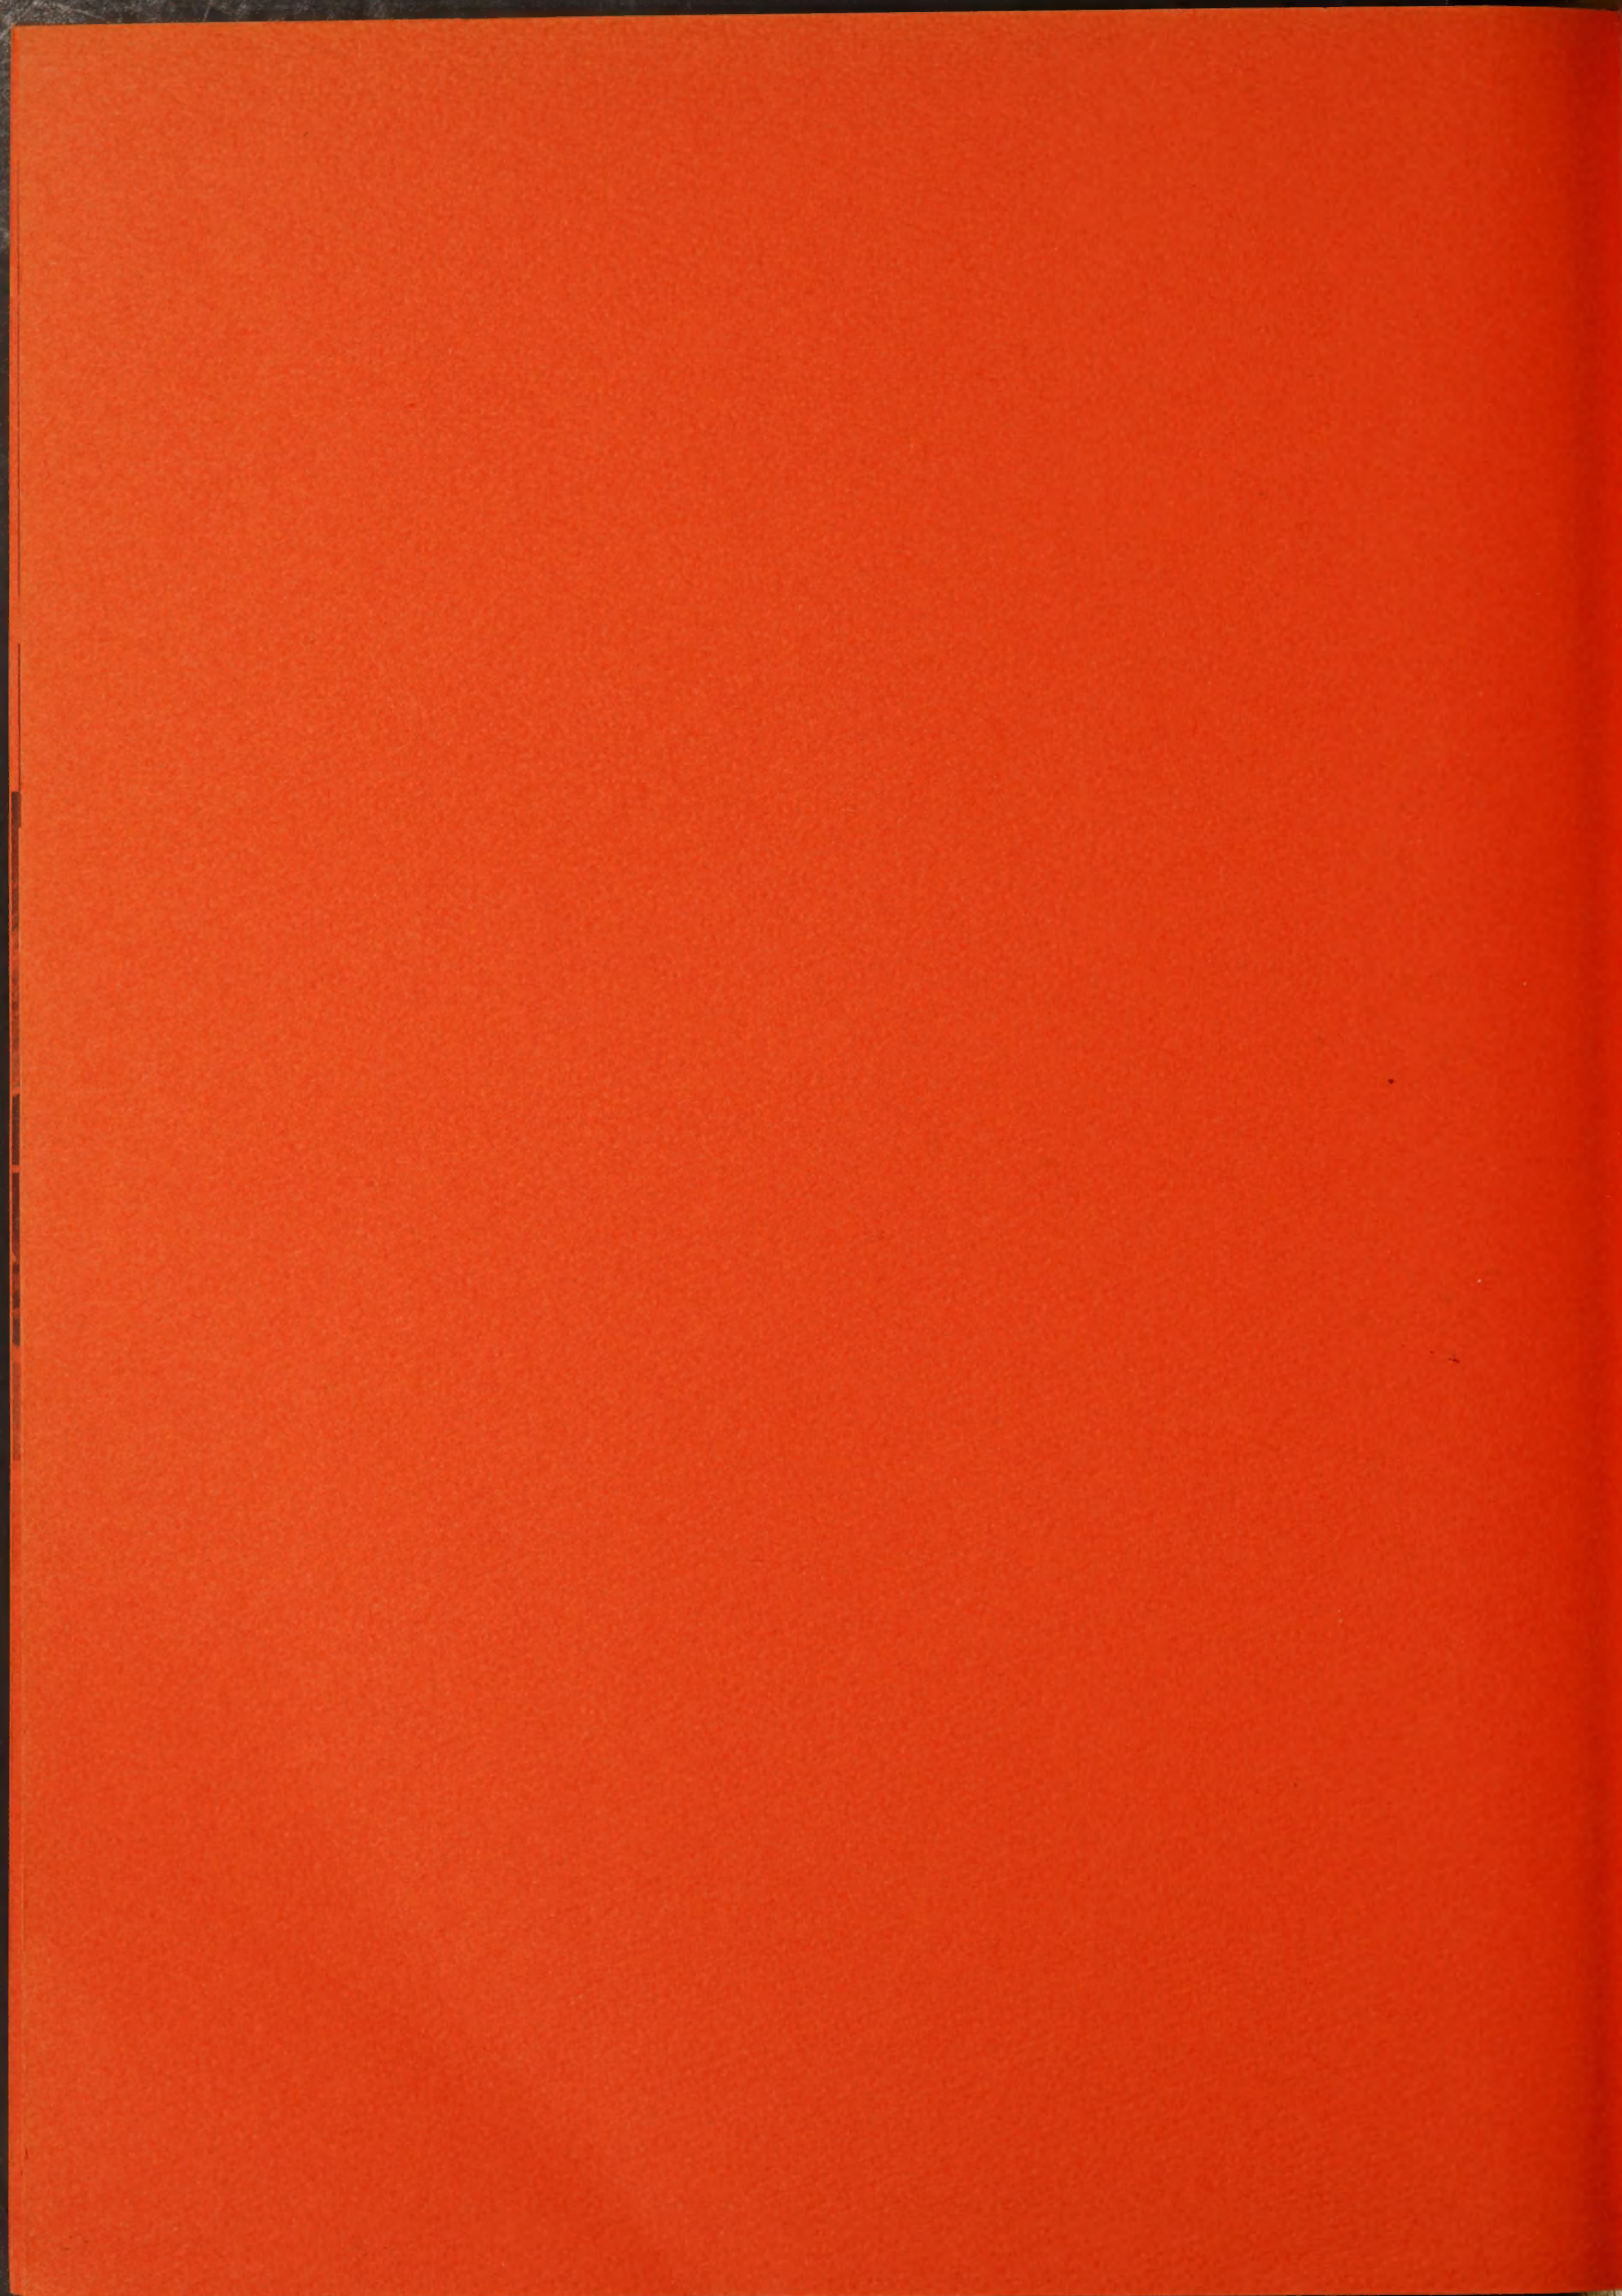

On June 9th, the seniors will graduate. Most of them will just look back on this year as an experience that resulted in a new library and air-conditioning. However, they will sit in the smoldering, un-air-conditioned gym as they wait to receive their diplomas.

On June 14, the underclass will say good-bye to PBHS for a summer, but they will return in the fall to see what surprises the 1972-73 schoolyear will have in store for them.

Your Beanpicker editor will be among those returning underclass, for I am only a junior. Being a junior, and an editor was a big responsibility. Putting a year's history into a yearbook is a hard task, especially when a lot of things were against us this year. I wish to thank my staff, and I also want to say thanks to a few people that otherwise would not receive recognition, I want to thank J. P. Portraits for furnishing me with a Yashica camera, for helping with all photography, and for rushing when I had to meet a deadline. I want to thank Miss Wray, our sponsor for all her help. I would like to thank my teachers for their consideration when I was tardy to or absent from class on yearbook assignments. I thank Lilli Johnston, Alice Spear, Deanna Tackett, and my parents for working holidays and late at night with me to meet yearbook deadlines. There are others on the staff and off the staff that I wish I had room to give recognition, but they know that I appreciated their help.

Remember, all PBHS students, life is one big castle and everyone of us has to build his own. No one else can build your castle for you and make you live in it happily ever after.

Good luck Class of '72,
Pat Nickens
